The DHRC maintains a separate wiki listing of peripheral resources about the Holocaust and modern-day genocides appropriate for use in the K-16 classroom, a part of the collection maintained by the Dayton Holocaust Resource Center (DHRC). This collection is located in the Charles & Renate Frydman Educational Center (ERC), 116 Allyn Hall, Wright State University (WSU), Dayton, OH. The holdings information compiled here is linked to the WSU University Libraries catalog. Electronic copies of items in this collection that are not accessible to universities in the state of Ohio through OhioLINK may be requested by contacting us at dhrc@wright.edu. Requests are limited to 5K per day.

The each entry on the wiki includes: title of the item, author/issuing authority, publishing/printing information, date of publication, and brief description of what the item is. Titles are linked to WSU University Libraries Catalog for additional information.

Use of tags are helpful in cross-referencing items in the wiki. They will be as general as possible, but will be helpful to locate materials which could potentially be listed across many pages. The "Search" box may also be helpful to locate materials.
